PRAYER FOR THIS COUNTRY

The Guinea-Bissau government will finance 70% of the electoral process for the legislative elections scheduled for June 4th. Guinean President Umaro Sissoco Embaló dissolved the National Assembly in May and scheduled legislative elections for 18 December, but the government, after meetings with political parties, proposed postponing them until May. To take stock of the voter registration, the Guinean government will invest more than five billion cfa (about 7.6 million euros). Pray that the Government will abide by the acts of sovereignty and justified proper processes. Pray for Guinea Bissauans to understand forgiveness of sins by Jesus Christ and His Kingdom rule sins (The Bible, Romans 11:27).

MORE ABOUT THIS COUNTRY

Guinea-Bissau is one of the world's poorest countries. It relies on revenues from raising a cashew crop to feed most families, and its economy depends greatly on foreign aid. Umaro Sissoco Embaló is the President of the Republic of Guinea-Bissau since 27 February 2020. Nuno Gomes Nabiam is the Prime Minister since 28 February 2020. Outside of the agricultural sector, the government struggles to pay its workers. There are suspicions that the country aids the Latin American cocaine trade as the narcotic reaches Europe. Freedom of religion exists in Guinea-Bissau; however, an animistic Islam dominates the greater culture, particularly in the north and east. Christianity sees greater success in the south and coastal regions. The country has the sixth highest mortality rate in the world. Illicit drug trafficking has grown almost unchecked, as the government has no coast guard, police have no cars available, and the navy has no boats for patrolling the North Atlantic shores.
